Who thinks they'll get cancer? What person have you ever heard say, "You know, I think one day, I'll be diagnosed with cancer?" If you're like most people, you probably answered, "nobody says that." The truth is, most people never truly think they'll ever develop the condition, even when it "runs in the family." Yet there is a chilling fear associated with the word "cancer," a scourge made stronger by the fact that so many die quietly from it, unaware of its presence, or during the fight to rid themselves of it. "From Fear to Faith: A Survivor's Story," is the story of how a young man, refusing to accept death as an option, fought back... and WON!

In From Fear to Faith, author Matt Talford takes you on a journey through his personal war on cancer and shares the physical, mental and spiritual tools that inspired him to reverse what he referred to as a slow death, tools he says apply not only to health, but to any area where you might be challenged. "Cancer is a wasp; fear of death is its stinger. Faith is the tool I used to remove the stinger. It is powerful, but has to be protected from the negativity that can cause it to rust!" – Matt Talford
