If you could visit someone from history and ask them a question, who would it be and what would you ask? Come travel with Paul to visit some of the greatest men in history. By mastering a trans-dimensional jumping technique, Paul is able to visit any time and any person as long as there is a clear intention as to when and where. By using this technique, he went back and asked seven revered people, "What one simple thing can each and every person do every day to make their lives immeasurably better?" The men Paul met with included Mahatma Gandhi, Abraham Lincoln, Alexander the Great, Aristotle, Jesus of Nazareth, Leonardo daVinci and Albert Einstein. Their answers were compiled and, with the help of the author, were turned into a seven-week program designed to help anyone live a happier more centered life.
