Behold The Future is a documentary of the end of the world, profuse in believable and Biblical facts that have never been considered by religious academia. The end of time officially begins when the news is broadcast around the world that the earth is going to be hit by an annihilating asteroid. The Biblical blueprint of safety for the nations to follow, which is clearly discussed in detail, holds the key for surviving the holocaust. In the midst of this extremely sensitive time, the two most dominant world powers take opposite stands regarding the asteroid, forcing all people of the world in a tense, decision-making drama. Much coverage is given to the following themes: the politics of the main world powers; the Antichrist; the coming of Christ; and the earth following the asteroid. With this book, written in a clear and engaging style, it will seem as though the author is sitting in your living room, sharing this story of the future with you with tenderness and hope. Much Scripture comes alive throughout the book. For once, the story of the future will make sense and it will not take a doctorate in theology to understand it.
